CASE STUDY

RevJet helps Nordstrom Modernize and Scale its Ad Creative Strategy

A CHANGE NEEDED DURING AN IMPORTANT TIME OF YEAR

In retail, it's well known the holidays are an essential time of the year, especially during a sales event. For Nordstrom, their annual holiday sale was right around the corner and they wanted to modernize their approach to managing and executing marketing creative to more effectively promote this important event.

Because Nordstrom sells numerous brands that encompass a diverse set of audience segments, the ability to target is essential. The ability to scale would also enable them to do more creative testing while building durable and actionable learnings.

To scale, the team needed to update their creative production processes. Like many advertisers, their typical creative process involved manually building creative, and then uploading it to a DSP or sending it to publishers. The creative process did not take advantage of the latest innovations in creative automation, such as artificial intelligence and leveraging a dynamic creative engine.

Nordstrom needed a solution that could provide:

- Ad tracking and trafficking efficiency
- Detailed and actionable reporting
- Achievement of performance goals

After an informed vetting process, RevJet was evaluated on its ability to deliver on these goals.

THE MODERN CREATIVE SOLUTION

Nordstrom leveraged key value components of the RevJet offering:

OPENING UP THE BLACK BOX

Nordstrom utilized RevJet's unique data visualization features to view all creative iterations, performance metrics, experiments and flights in one place. This was needed to efficiently and effectively orchestrate multiple versions across their audiences, support the evolution of their DMP strategy beyond black box targeting solutions, and align media

REORGANIZING TO GET ON THE PATH TO SCALABILITY

Nordstrom utilized the learning built natively into the platform, enabling an intuitive understanding of how creative is performing with a defined audience. Using this feature helped unlock scalability for Nordstrom to make better connections with the target audience.

JUMPSTARTING RESULTS IN RECORD TIME

RevJet's in-house creative consultancy, NextREV Digital, was called upon to help Nordstrom go live quickly with minimal disruption. NextREV worked with Nordstrom to integrate with existing technologies.

CAMPAIGN RESULTS

STREAMLINED ONBOARDING TO BEAT THE TIME-CRUNCH

Nordstrom was running on RevJet's platform in 14 days. Nordstrom's culture enabled them to move quickly, marshal resources, and ensure internal alignment. NextREV was also key in ensuring that everything went smoothly and that any minor issues were immediately managed.

RevJet connected with the processes that Nordstrom already had in place, allowing for rapid onboarding. This allowed them to be on the same page cross-functionally to effectively drive success via the RevJet platform.

REDUCED FRICTION WITH A FLEXIBLE AND MALLEABLE PLATFORM

RevJet's open and modern architecture allowed for connections to existing technology within Nordstrom's existing marketing and creative stacks. "We asked RevJet to be flexible and work with a lot of other tools to be able to fit into our ad tech ecosystem, and we've not run into a situation yet where RevJet is unable to do that," said Michelle Alfano, senior marketing manager, Nordstrom. . She continued, "RevJet's ability to integrate with other platforms that we work with is a differentiator in this space."

INCREASED EFFICIENCIES TO FOCUS ON WHAT REALLY MATTERS

For Nordstrom, consolidating tags within RevJet's Optimization Groups, and iterating without sending out new tags, creates efficiency with both their media team and their ad ops team because the trafficking requirements significantly decreased. The Nordstrom team also found the way in which RevJet organizes trafficking helpful, reducing their worrying about quality assurance.

DETAILED AND ACTIONABLE REPORTING SURFACED NEW MARKETING INSIGHTS

The insights gained from RevJet were new for Nordstrom, and it was simple to share the impact across the company. "The first thing that jumped off the screen was the way in which RevJet natively built learning into the platform," Alfano said. "RevJet enables a very intuitive way to understand how creative is performing within a defined audience."

For a similar reason, detailed reporting was an important benefit on the RevJet platform as well. This was also a net new ability for Nordstrom that allowed them to definitively know what worked and what didn't. RevJet provided durable, repeatable learnings that Nordstrom was able to apply to various creative processes.

UNLOCKED THE VALUE OF CREATIVE AND MORE

Three distinct and essential performance goals were achieved:

- Nordstrom is now able to personalize creative at scale within each customer segment
- Nordstrom has moved to a "Test, Don't Guess" philosophy, and away from opinion-driven decision making
- Nordstrom has unlocked the process of achieving creative performance within RevJet, which makes it repeatable and data-driven

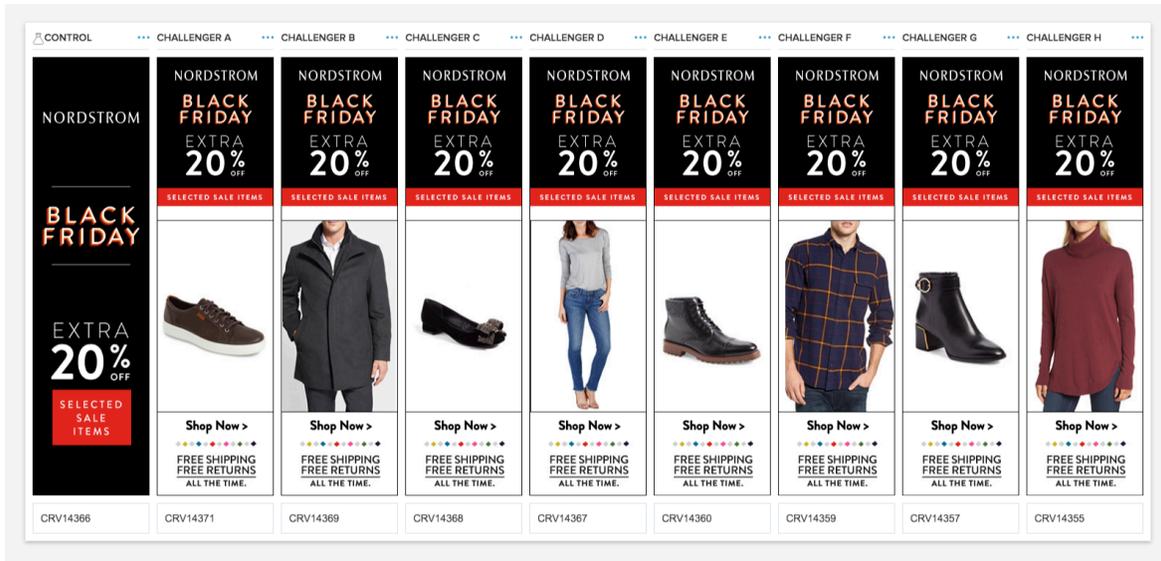

“REVJET IS A CREATIVE OPTIMIZATION TOOL, A WORKFLOW MANAGEMENT TOOL, A PROJECT MANAGEMENT TOOL, & AN INSIGHTS TOOL. BUT BY STITCHING ALL THAT TOGETHER, REVJET HELPED AS AN AGENT OF ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGE. THE PLATFORM PROVIDES DATA TO ENABLE US TO HAVE MORE INFORMED CONVERSATIONS AROUND OUR PROCESSES & THE OUTPUTS OF THOSE PROCESSES.”

TAKING THE STRESS OUT OF HOLIDAY ADVERTISING

Utilizing RevJet’s scheduling functionality, Nordstrom developed a creative calendar where ad creative can automatically run and pause to reflect the seasonal campaign calendar. Many different Black Friday treatments competed in head-to-head competition from November 23 through November 26.

...and found that the “Women’s Shoes” creative (Challenger D) performed 43% better than the Control (“Animation Only”) and 133% better than the worst performer in driving deep engagement on their website:

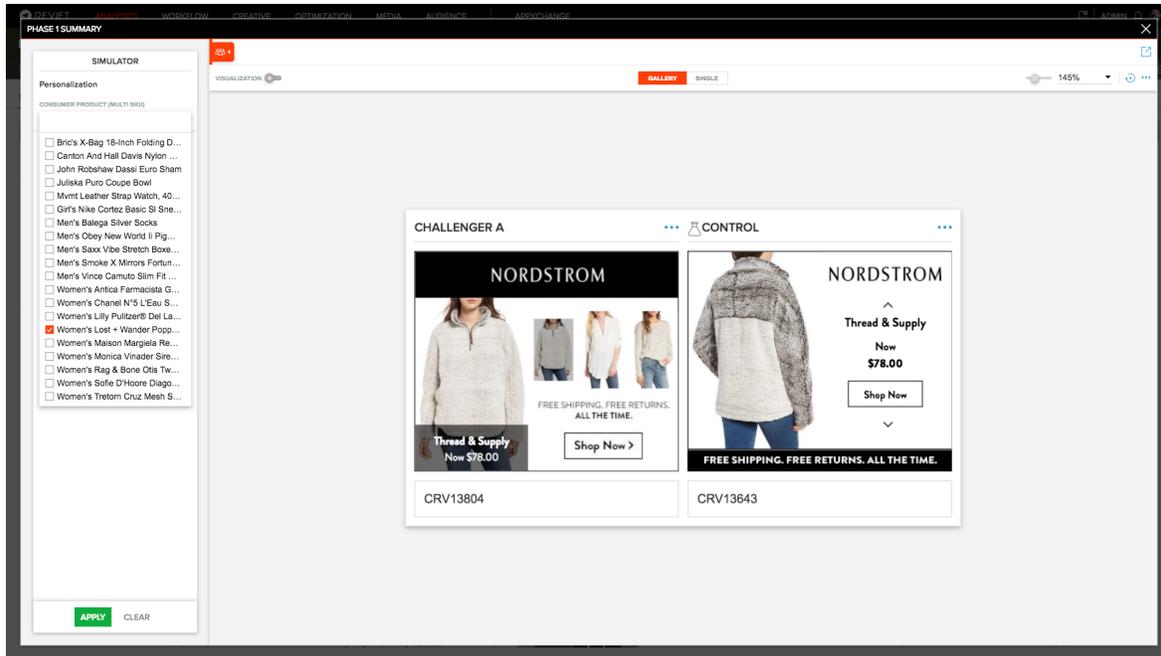

The Nordstrom team also pre-scheduled ad creative to “flip” to a Cyber Monday rotation on November 27th to just run for one day – “Cyber Monday” – before rolling back to default creative. All without any re-trafficking or added stress around the Holidays:

INNOVATING WITH RE-TARGETING CREATIVE LIKE NEVER BEFORE

By connecting RevJet to their product feed, the Nordstrom team experimented with different approaches to re-targeting: In this case, Nordstrom ran a head-to-head experiment with a single product “vertical scrolling” ad creative versus a multi-product carousel creative.

In less than one day, Nordstrom discovered the multi-product creative performed 71.5% better than the single product “vertical scrolling” ad creative. That equated to 71.5% more product added to consumers’ shopping bags just by experimenting on the RevJet platform.
